MODERATE COUNSELS.

The calm of the public mind has not been disturbed by the meeting of Congress.

The several elections in the early part of November were followed by a peace that passed all expectation. Up to that event, the conflict of parties was waxing more and more fierce as each week passed by, and the gravest apprehensions were felt as to the result of the war of opinions. At no period since the failure of the rebellion, has the sky appeared more threatening than during the month of October last. Such was the violence of party men, so fearful were the extreme views they were disposed to press, in the struggle to keep or gain the power, that dispassionate men who stand aloof from the struggle of contending factions were at a loss to understand whereunto this thing would grow.

But the elections were followed by an ominous and expressive calm.

We have read the journals representing the extremes of both sides, and they draw one and the same lesson—that moderate counsels must prevail; the war is over; slavery is dead; secession is buried; peace has returned; harvests of grain have been gathered from fields fattened with brothers' blood; the wanderers have come back; let us kill the fatted calf and be glad; the nation was (almost) dead and is alive again, was lost and is found. This is the public sentiment of the American people. This sentiment dictates conciliation and gentleness, with justice and prudence. This spirit requires us to do as we would be done by. It forbids to break the bruised reed. It demands of us to lay no burdens on our brethren which we are not willing ourselves to bear. It teaches all parties to lay aside prejudice and animosity, while, with the ancient feelings of American union we get together again as soon as possible.—N. Y. Observer.

SOLOMON'S THRONE.

The following account of this remarkable piece of mechanism purports to be taken from the Persian manuscript, called "The History of Jerusalem:"

The sides of it were of pure gold, the feet of emeralds and rubies intermixed with pearls, each of which were as large as an ostrich's egg. The throne had seven sides; on each side were delineated orchards full of trees, the branches of which were of precious stones, representing fruit, ripe and unripe; on the tops of the trees were to be seen figures of birds of plumage, particularly the peacock, the etanh, and the karges. All these birds were hollowed within artificially, so as to occasionally utter melodious sounds, such at the ear of mortal never heard. On the first step were delineated vine branches having bunches of grapes, composed of precious stones of various kings, fashioned in such a manner as to represent the various colors of purple, violet, green and red, so as to render the appearance of real fruit. On the second step, on each side of the throne, were two lions of terrible aspect, large as life, and formed of cast gold.

The nature of this remarkable throne was such that when Solomon placed his foot on the first steps, the birds spread their wings and made a fluttering noise in the air. On his reaching the third step, the whole assemblage of demons, and fairies, and men, repeated the praises of the Deity. When he arrived at the fourth step, voices were heard addressing him in the followiug manner: "Son of David, be thankful for the blessings which the Almighty has bestowed upon us." The same was repeated on his reaching the fifth step. On his reaching the sixth, all of the children of Israel joined them; and on his arrival at the seventh, all the birds and animals became in motion, and ceased not until he had placed himself on the royal seat, when the birds, lions and other animals, by secret springs, discharged a shower of the most precious perfumes on Solomon, after which two of the karges descended and placed the golden crown upon his head.

Before the throne was a column of burnished gold, on the top of which was a golden dove, which held in its beak a volume bound in silver. In this book were written the Psalms of David, and the dove having presented the book to the King, he read aloud a portion of it to the children of Israel. It is further related that on the approach of evil persons to the throne, the lions were wont to set up a terrible roar, and to lash their tails with violence, the birds also, and demons and genii to utter horrid cries; so for fear of them no one dared be guilty of falsehood, but all confessed their crimes. Such was the throne of Solomon, the son of David.

A POLICE STORY.

A Paris correspondent writes: "The recent death of Nuzillard, the senior cashier at the Comptoir d'Escompte, through whose hands more gold has passed than would buy up an empire, reminds me of the following story: Nuzillard has always enjoyed the reputation of being the most clever, and at the same time most prudent cashier. However, in 1849 he managed to get robbed of a sum of £4,000 in £10 notes. The director of the Comptoir, although he had always had the greatest confidence in the often tried probity of his clerk, still thinking it strange that he could have had so large a packet of notes taken from him without his knowledge, went to the Prefect of Police, M. Carlier, and told him all about it. The latter pronounced an opinion favorable to the honesty of poor Nuzillard. 'Remember,' said the director, 'that a hundred bank notes make quite a thick packet on his breast—', 'Nothing for a clever thief,' interrupted M. Carlier. 'Here is a newspaper, fold it, and button it in your breast pocket. Now I will not promise you it will still be there when you leave the Perfecture!' The director laughed, and declared it was impossible, while he carefully placed the newspaper at the side of his pocket-book. The two gentlemen remained some time in conversation during which the Prefect of Police was receiving people and writing orders. When the director rose to go, M. Carlier, after shaking hands with him, said: 'By-the-by, I suppose you have the newspaper all right!' But, lo and behold! to the intense stupefaction of the director, both pocket-book and paper had disappeared, whereupon the Prefect rang the bell, and the amateur thief, who had done the deed on a pencil command from his master, and the astonished owner of the pocket-book then and there declared his complete belief in his cashier's innocence."

A MODEL MERCHANT.

"Business is business," "and a contract is a contract." These are sound commercial maxims, but the following incident illustrates the nature of the business community which obeys the inspired injunction, "Look not every man on his own things, but every man, also, on the things of others:"

A merchant of New York, during the late war, made a contract with a mechanic to supply him with a number of tin cans. Not long after this the price of tin rose so much that the contractor must lose money by completing the ware at the price agreed upon. However, he said nothing, but went on delivering the cans. When the first bill for the pay of the cans was received, the employer called upon him and said,—

"I understand you are losing money on this job."

"Yes," replied the contractor, "but I can stand it; a contract is a contract, you know."

"How much will you lose?" asked the gentleman.

"O, no matter," was the reply: I don't complain, and you ought not to."

"I insist on knowing."

"Well, since you desire it, I shall lose so much a hundred," naming the amount.

"Well, sir," said the noble-hearted man, "you must not lose this—it would not be right. I shall add the amount to your bill, and, as the price of material may still rise, I will advance you the money for the whole contract, which, no doubt, you can use to advantage."

The difference thus paid, to which the contractor laid no claim, amounted to five hundred dollars. That was something more than business honesty; it was Christian principle carried out in business. The world needs just such examples to convince it of the truth of religion.

ADVICE TO A DYSPEPTIC.

You have asked me to prescribe for you. You expect medicine, perhaps you hope for whisky, just now the rage for chronic maladies, but I shall give you nothing to swallow; you have swallowed too much already. Of all the maladies dyspepsia is the most distressing; to get rid of its horrors you would part with your right arm; I believe you, but would you part with a portion of your table luxuries? I fear not; but presuming you are in earnest, I will prescribe for you:

1. Rise early, dress warm and go out; if strong, walk; if weak, saunter, Drink cold water three times—of all cold baths this is best for dyspepsia; after half an hour or more, come in for breakfast.

2. For breakfast eat a piece of good steak half as large as your hand, a slice of coarse bread and a baked apple; eat very slowly; talk very pleasantly with your neighbors; read cheerful comments of journals; avoid hot biscuits and strong coffee; drink nothing.

3. Digest for an hour, and then to your work; I trust it is in the open air. Work hard till noon, and then rest body and mind till dinner; sleep little; drink water.

4. For dinner—two or three o'clock—eat a slice of beef or mutton or fish as large as your hand, a potato, two or three spoonsful of other vegetables, a slice of coarse bread; give more than half an hour to this meal; use no drink.

5. After dinner play anaconda for an hour; now for the social, for pleasant games—a good time.

6. No supper—a little toast and tea, even for supper, will make your recovery very slow.

In a warm room, bathe your skin with cold water hastily, and go to bed in a well ventilated room before nine o'clock.

Follow this prescription for three months and your stomach will so far recover that you can indulge for some time in all sorts of irregular and gluttonous eating; or if you have resolved, in the fear of Heaven, to present your bodies, living sacrifices, holy and acceptable unto God, and will continue to eat and work like a Christian, your distressing malady will soon be forgotten.—Dio Lewis, M. D.

JAPANESE MAPS.

There are now in this city some specimens of the work of Japanese which shows that they have attained a proficiency in some branches almost if not quite equal to our own. One of these is a large map of the Imperial City of Yeddo, apparently executed by lithographic process, or something similar, and finished up in colors. No job of this kind, executed in Europe or America, could excel it in minutences of detail and careful neatness of execution. The streets, many of which are seventeen miles in length, are all laid down with apparent mathematical exactness, the vast system of canals like those of Venice, but on an immensely extended scale, is also exhibited, and the location of the Imperial Palace and grounds, covering several square miles of territory, and the palaces of some 250 princes who reside in the city, are all given.—The city is said to contain 1,500,000 houses, and 5,000,000 people, and to have a commerce more extensive by far than that of any city on earth, though this last seems incredible. Another is a birdseye view of Yokohama, with the foreign quarter to prevent indiscriminate commingling of the races, the harbor, the surrounding hils, &c. These maps were purchased by a gentleman now in this city, at a native stationer's shop in Yokohama, and are said to be, as in fact they must almost necessarily be, entirely of native workmanship. No foreigners have yet been allowed to settle in Yeddo, and the surveys of that city from which the map was made must have been wholly by native engineers.—San Francisco Alta.

NEGRO VOTING.

The Jackson, Louisiana, Flag presents a new phase of the negro voting question. In that part of the South the freedmen were told that unless they voted with the Radicals the supplies of provisions for the coming year would be stopped. In consequence of this information, communicated in the lodge rooms of the colored loyal leagues, the negroes assembled immediately after the election to make requsitions for the donations promised. The Flag says: "There was a full exhibition of negro credulity and ignorance on the occasion. As a sample of what they expect, we give the following bill made out by a freedman for his family for supplies for the next year: Fifty pounds coffee. two barrels flour, fifty pounds sugar, four hundred pounds bacon, one bolt calico, one bolt domestic, half barrel molases, one double-barrel shot-gun, one pistol, &c." This is the manner in which the negroes are manipulated in the loyal leagues. They are bribed by promises, cajoled by flattery, their passions stimulated, their prejudices inflamed, and all this for the purpose of inducing them to vote the Radical ticket, to place in office persons who will disfranchise intelligent white men, and place the balance of the power in the hands of such individuals as those constituting the gathering at Jackson. What hope is there for the peace and prosperity of a section while political power wielded by persons who can be thus fooled and deceived, and why should white men of the North support a party willing to debauch our whole elective system to hold power in the Union? This question of negro voting lies at the very foundation of the Radical party, and they will push on that column regardless of consequences to the real prosperity of the nation. If the North will not allow the experiment to be tried here, why should they force the system upon the South, especially in the face of such facts as those presented in the Flag?—Age.

FRANKLIN'S WIFE.

To promote her husband's interests she attended in his little shop, where she bought rags, sewed pamphlets, folded newspapers, and sold the few articles in which he dealt, such as ink, papers, lampblack, blacks and other stationery. At the same time, she was an excellent housekeepers, and besides being economical herself, taught her somewhat careless, disorderly husband to be economical also. Sometimes, Franklin was clothed from head to foot in garments which his wife had both woven and made, and for a long time she performed all the work of the house without the assistance of a servant.

Nevertheless, she knew how to be liberal at proper times. Franklin tells us that for some years after his marriage, his breakfast was bread and milk, which they ate out of a two penny earthen vessel, with a pewter spoon; bnt one morning, on going down to breakfast, he found upon the table a beautiful china bowl, from whice his bread and milk was steaming, with a silver spoon by its side, which had cost a sum equal in our currency to ten dollars. When he expressed his astonishment at this unwonted splendor, Mrs. Franklin only remarked, that she thought her husband deserved a silver spoon and china bowl as much as any of his neighbors.

Franklin prospered in his business until he became the most famous editor and most flourishing printer in America, which gave him the pleasure of relieving his wife from the cares of business, and enabled him to provide for her a spacious and well furnished abode. She adorned a high station as well as she had borne a lowly one, and presided at her husband's liberal table as gracefully as when he ate his breakfast of bread and milk from a two penny bowl.—Parton's Life of Franklin.

A PEEP INTO BRIGHAM YOUNG'S SERAGLIO.

But let us seek a field of interest. Here on our right hand are the private grounds of him who ruleth in Zion, Brigham Young. Twenty acres he owns in the heart of the city, where are pleasant walks and floral beauties, surrounded by a stone wall. Within this enclosure are three princely mansions, where live his thirty wives and numberless progeny. Each of these houses carries a name, that disorder and confusion may not arise in the camp of Israel. They are the Bee Hive House, Lion House and White House on the Hill. This mighty wall is designed to shut out the world, to exclude inquisitive sight, but we shall venture to describe the scene within. It is the hour of sunset, gilding the mountains with rapturous light.—We approach the massive iron gates, and unlike Moore's disconsolate Peri, we are permitted to enter the domestic paradise. Strolling leisurely along the grassy walks, our attention is attracted to the singular movements of an elderly woman, her hair streaked with silver threads, yet with a step firm and elastic. This evening's air is inviting, and she seems to enjoy the freshness. In her hand is an open book (can it be "Griffith Gaunt; or jealousy?") which closes with a nervous twitch of the hand as her fading eye rekindles with a look that would seem to say, 'Oh, how I despise you!' This woman, forty years ago, became Brigham Young's first wife. But who can be the victim of that malignant scorning? What poor mortal is being crushed between her clenched teeth? Can it be I, only a looker-on—a harmless and unoffending Gentile? No; but we have discovered the study of her hate—the bohum upas that has been planted in her side. Yonder is a cluster of trees—they are aspen and maple—and under their thin, yellow-tinged tops, is a bright eyed woman of twenty summers, who now leans upon an old man's arm. By what power we know not, but, as if drawn by magic hand, our steps are directed thitherward. The now mistress of the heart and situation flashes winsome looks and breathes poetic words; he, old man that he is, and slave of sensualism, treads the floor of his own paradise, and smiles approving glances. This man is Brigham Young, and this woman his very last and much the prettiest wife. No wonder that the "old creature" looked the disagreeable. Perhaps there are others peeping from behind damask curtains who are also mourning the loss of their place in that old man's affections.

TEXAN BEEF.—At the taking of the last census Texas had, or was estimated to have, 3,500,000 head of horned cattle. They were worth little then, just as in the South American pampas the best stock was killed for the tongue and hide. A plan lately devised has introduced much of the South American beef into Europe in a comparatively fresh state. The fact that Texas cattle can be bought for eight to ten dollars a head in gold there, while selling at twenty to forty cents a pound here, has led to a plan by which some 30,000 to 40,000 Texas cattle have been collected at Abilene, on the Arkansas river, seventy-five miles from its mouth, one hundred and sixty-five miles west from Kansas City and three hundred and seventy-five miles from northern Texas. Great preparations have been made for receiving and fattening animals there, and from there they will be transported to the east. They can be sold for four cents a pound, gross, in Chicago, and leave a good profit over all expenses. They can be sold for six and seven cents here, with equal results. The matter has been so well demonstrated that extensive preparations have been made for the ensuing year, and the Texas farmers will be rejoiced to get cash for their stock and we to get beef for our cash. The wild cattle are not quite so succulent eating when killed in the grass as our stall-fed beasts. But when a Texas cow has been well fed for four or six weeks and kept quiet, nothing but buffalo hump is tenderer, juicier or better flavored.

The Bedford Gazette.

Friday Morning, January 3, 1868.

AWFUL.

In order to understand the following, it is necessary for the reader to know that SECRETARY SEWARD has contracted with the King of Denmark, for the annexation of the island of St. Thomas, to the United States, and that his Majesty, KING CHRISTIAN, has determined to leave the question of the transfer of the island to our government, to the decision of the inhabitants of the island:

> "But CHRISTIAN IX insisted that his faithful West Indians should have their choice, and thereby it may turn out that he has saved the Senate the necessity of ratifying the treaty, and the House the trouble of voting upon an appropriation. There are many reasons why the inhabitants of St. Thomas might hesitate about changing their condition. The Government of Denmark is mild, and the St. Thomasians have the disposition of their own affairs in their own hands. Their port is almost a free port, the duties being so low as to be slightly more than nominal. The result is, that they have a brisk trade with all parts of the West Indies, and the port is a stopping-place between the United States and South America, and between Europe and South America. They are doing well under the flag of Denmark, and if they know as much as we do, they will doubt whether they could do better by adopting the stars and stripes. They will incur thereby a heavy tariff, a frightful national debt, an excise, heavy taxation, greenbacks, and a suspension of specie payments; they will gain the right to send a delegate to Washington, and have political quarrels. No advantage can ensue to St. Thomas which will balance the disadvantages. The King of Denmark would pocket seven millions of dollars by the transaction, but his West Indian subjects get not a penny of the amount. They have, therefore, little to gain by the transfer, and it may be that they will refuse to ratify the bargain, and thus while they flatter CHRISTIAN IX by an expression of their willingness to change their allegiance, they will relieve Mr SEWARD of a deal of anxiety."

Can the reader guess the source of the sentiments expressed in the above quoted article? "Charleston Mercury," say you? No. "Richmond Enquirer?" No. "N. Y. Daybook?" Guess again. "Brick Pomeroy?" Not at all! That article is clipped from the editorial columns of that most abject of all newspaper toadies to the present Radical Congress, that quintessence of double-distilled, rectified and bottled-up "loyalty," the Philadelphia Inquirer! Now just think of it! The idea of a "loyal" newspaper declaring that "there are many reasons why the inhabitants of St. Thomas might hesitate about" joining their fortunes with the "best government God ever gave to man!" Isn't it awful? "The government of Denmark is mild," says the Inquirer. Does it mean to insinuate that the Danish despotism is milder than the lenient rule of our Radical Congress? It cannot be! That would be flat "disloyalty," and, of course, the Philadelphia Inquirer is above suspicion on that score. "Their port is almost a free port." Does the Inquirer intend to convey the idea that Free Trade is a blessing to the St. Thomasians? Impossible! That would be an argument against "Protection to American Industry," of which that journal is a noted advocate. "They are doing well under the flag of Denmark, and if they know as much as we do, they will doubt whether they could do better by adopting the stars and stripes." What, truer happiness and greater prosperity, under the flag of an "Old World Despot," than under the Stars and Stripes of "Free America!" Is the Inquirer jesting? "They will incur thereby a heavy tariff, a frightful national debt, an excise, heavy taxation, greenbacks, and a suspension of specie payments; they will gain the right to send a delegate to Washington, and to have political quarrels." "Incur a heavy tariff!" Isn't that exactly what the Inquirer has demanded for this country? Isn't a "heavy tariff" protection to America, and if St. Thomas becomes a part of the Yankee nation, will it not also be "protected?" "A frightful national debt!" Why, do not Jay, Cooke & Co. tell us that "a national debt is a national blessing," and is not the Inquirer the organ of those renowned bankers? How shocking! That "a great national blessing" should be thus suddenly and strangely transformed into a "frightful" national curse! "An excise, heavy taxation, greenbacks, and a suspension of specie payments." Pshaw! What has "an excise," or "heavy taxation," to do with the happiness of our people? Are there not plenty of untaxed Government bonds, and cannot every body, the St. Thomasians included, invest in these and thus escape "an excise" and "heavy taxation?" As to "incurring greenbacks," if the St. Thomasians wish to avoid that difficulty, let them turn printers. But not much trouble need be apprehended on that subject, as the Philadelphia Inquirer and kindred sheets assured us, last fall, that in case of the election of Judge Sharswood, greenbacks would be abolished. Hence, Sharswood having been elected, our prospective insular fellow citizens need not fear that if they are annexed to Yankeedom, they will have to "incur greenbacks." "They will gain the right to send a delegate to Washington, and to have political quarrrels." We are not sure that these are quite all the rights that people acquire now-a-days, by becoming American citizens; we insist upon it that the Inquirer, being a loyal paper, ought not to say that they are. But are they not enough, in themselves, to induce any foreign people, to throw off their present allegiance and unite their destiny with ours? Why, the very fact of being permitted to send a delegate to Congress, who may sit beneath the droppings of that humane philosopher and magnificent patriot, Thad. Stevens, should be sufficient inducement to "all the world and the rest of mankind" to renounce their present governments and swear fealty to the American Eagle. Indeed, viewing the question in all its aspects, we think the Inquirer's article is perfectly awful!

THE WAY IT GOES.

Not a tithe of the extravagance and wastefulness of Congress, during the past seven years, has ever been told.—Could the American people look behind the curtain and note the enormities which they are made to bear, in order to maintain a political aristocracy in luxury and ease, they would cast the burden from their backs, before the dawning of another day. But the hideous features of "the veiled prophet of Khorassan," are well concealed. We do not see the horrible, blood-shot eye, the thick, leathery and pouched-out lips, the purple, bloated cheeks, the livid, corrugated forehead; we only, occasionally, when one of his attendants in a whiff of anger, disturbs the veil, catch a glimpse of his red, rum-blossomed nose. In other words, we, the people, are not permitted to see the monstrous schemes and wholesale frauds, by which the revenues of the country, our taxes, are almost wholly absorbed, except once in a while, when Congressman DAWES is forced to declare that "more was stolen from the Treasury in one year," under his own party's administration, "than was required to carry on the government four years under President Buchanan;" or, when brother Greeley, in a fit of indignation at the "blockheads" and "howling Pharisees," (as he styles the politicians of his party) lets the cat out of the bag, though it be only to put it back again. By the way, Horace has just lately been permitting the feline extremities to protrude from the Radical sack. The claws are just visible:

> "For two years, Mr. Foster, of Connecticut, drew a salary of $8,000 and $2,000 for a private secretary, when he was, by the letter of the law, entitled to no more than the salary of a Senator of the United States. Mr. Wade does the same now. He draws the salary of Vice-President, and is known as Acting 'Vice-President,' an office not recognized by the Constitution or any law of the United States. It is entirely a brevet rank; the extra pay has been attached to it since 1865 by courtesy, and not by right; and so on to the end of the chapter.
> "The Republican Congressional Committee have had in their employ, as Southern missionaries, for a year past, a large number of men paid as clerks and officers of the House of Representatives. Is there warrant of law for this? If so, it would enlighten a great many anxious inquirers to point out just where it is."

This is from an article published in the N. Y. Tribune, a few days ago.—We refrain from comment, for our purpose is merely to lay before the people the evidence of Radical extravagance and recklessness in the expenditure of the public money, and to let them judge for themselves as to the remedy.

THERE appears to be some prospect of the removal of that miserable scoundrel JOHN POPE, who now plays the tyrant over the people of Georgia, Alabama and Florida; the same whom General W. B. Franklin and General John F. Reynolds declared they would not believe on oath. The sooner his official head drops off, the better.

P. S. Since the above was put in type, we have received the welcome news that Gen. Pope has been removed and Gen. Meade appointed in his stead. Gen. Ord has also been relieved, at his own request, of the command of the Mississippi district, and Gen. McDowell appointed in his stead. We doubt not that these changes are for the better.

MORROW B. LOWRY, the ruffled shirt Senator from the Erie district, says that his party (the Radicals) will be compelled to nominate Grant for President, in order to get a "strengthening-plaster, nerve and bone liniment and green goggles" for the "weak-kneed, bow-backed and sunken-eyed Republicans." Morrow knows what's what.

EUGENE CASSERLY, Democrat, has been elected U. S. Senator from California, to succeed John Canness, Radical. Senator Cosserly is spoken of as an able lawyer and true man. He is about 40 years of age.

PRACTICAL RESULTS.

The effect of the victories gained by the Democracy, is sensibly felt in some of the doings of Congress. For instance, the defeat of the infamous impeachment scheme, was undoubtedly secured by the Democratic successes in the late elections. Had the Radicals carried their tickets, "the weak-kneed, bow-backed and sunken-eyed" of their representatives in Congress, would have been sufficiently stiffened as to the knee-joints and the vertebræ, and goggled as to the visual organs, to have voted for, instead of against, impeachment. But their districts having voted against their party, they quaked and quailed and could not see the point of the impeachers. Again, we see it stated, that there is some talk, by leading Radicals, of taxing Government bonds, and there is a general hubbub in their camp on the financial question. Before the late elections, there wasn't a Radical in all the land that did not scout the taxing of Government bonds as rank "repudiation." Thus have the Democracy brought their enemies "to their milk." On the negro question alone, does Radicalism refuse to recede. Wilson, Kelley, all of the Radical leaders, tell us they will not yield an inch of their ground on Negro Supremacy. Very well. The people, through the Democratic party, will give them another lesson. Perhaps, they will learn to respect the popular will after a little more of the same sort of instruction received by them last fall.

THE NATIONAL RAILROAD--525 MILES COMPLETED.

A few days ago it was announced that "500 miles of the Union Pacific Railroad had been completed west from Omaha;" and the bare announcement was made the text for many interesting facts concerning the history of this great national enterprise, and the wonderful rapidity with which its construction has been carried forward. The public had hardly begun to appreciate the fact that half a thousand miles of railroad had been built in two years into and through what had been an untenanted waste, before the telegraph told of the celebration of the completion of the 517th mile, and the public welcome given to the locomotive by the City of Cheyenne, which two months before had no existence, but which now numbers its inhabitants by thousands. This fact was also proudly commented upon as an illustration of the restless vigor with which this Railroad was being built, but while the people have been reading these congratulatory paragraphs, the tracklayers have kept steadily at work, and the last bulletin announces the completion of 525 miles. How much greater distance will be accomplished before this article shall be seen by our readers, we will not venture to predict.

The whole history of this Railroad is wonderful. It has the advantage of such liberal national aid as was never before given to any private undertaking; its officers and promoters are men of national reputation and large financial experience; the road is being built under the largest railroad contract of which we have any record; the security offered its bondholders exceeds that of any other similar loan, as these bonds constitute a first mortgage upon the entire road, while the Government accepts a second lien as its own security for advances; the amount of its business, when the through line shall be completed, must of necessity be enormous, and its local traffic and profits upon the portion now in operation are unprecedented. We are sure that the further information concerning this National Railroad which will be found in another column, will be read with especial interest.

OUR BOOK TABLE.

THE GALAXY.—We have before us the January number of this popular monthly. The "Galaxy" is the most liberal, progressive and catholic of the literary magazines. Without partaking of the narrow partizanship which makes the "Atlantic Monthly" detestable, the "Galaxy" ventilates the politics, as well as the literature, of the day. We can read such articles as that entitled "The Political Outlook," in the number before us, with respect for the writer, because his argument is fair and liberal, though we conceive him to be mistaken in his views. But the "Galaxy" has other and greater attractions than its articles on politics. We find in the present number an excellent tale by Henry James, Jr., entitled "The Story of a Masterpiece;" "American and Foreign Thertaes," by Oliver Logan; "My Spiritualistic Experiences," by R. Frothingham; "The Same Christmas in Old England and New," by E. E. Hale; "Elisabetta's Christmas," by Harriet Prescott Spofford; "Burgoyne in a New Light," by W. L. Stone; "Aphoristic Cynicism," by Junius Henri Browne, a continuation of "Steven Lawrence, yeoman," by Mrs. Edwards, and last, but by no means least, the lucubrations of the "Nebulous Person," with some good poetry sandwiched among the prose.—The "Galaxy" also boasts a new cover, which we consider much more tasteful than the dutch great coat in which it was formerly arrayed. Address W. C. & F. P. Church, 39 Park Row, N. Y. city.

THE OLD GUARD.—The Old Guard, for January, is received, and fully sustains the reputation it has won as second to no magazine in our country in popular interest, while it is the ablest exponent of the true principles of Democracy. This number opens with an article by the editor, on "Tricks of President-Making," followed by a thrilling historical romance, founded upon the fall of the Italian States. It is a romance of great power, translated expressly for The Old Guard, from one of the most distnguished of all the Italian writers of modern time, Monteverde, and with a detail of the arts to which tyranny resorts to destroy liberty, containing a charming love story. "The Strange Story of Baron Trenck" is an article of great interest, and the first chapters of an original novel, by Miss Nellie Marshall, of Kentucky, entitled "Dead Under the Roses," give promise of one of the most fascinating serials of the current year. The first of Dr. Van Evrie's new series of articles on "Types of Mankind," is on the Caucasian type, illustrated with a splendid colored picture of a model man of our race. The article is of great interest, and worthy of preservation for reference on this important subject. The "Book Table," and the "Editor's Table," which are fully up to the mark of the best matter and style, close the number, which is certainly one of the ablest and most interesting of the New-Year numbers of all our magazines. Single copies, 25 cents; $3.00 per year. Van Evrie, Horton & Co., No. 162 Nassau street, New York.

LADIES' REPOSITORY.—In noticing books, we always like to begin with that part of them which is best. Following our bent in this regard, we say that the "Ladies' Repository" prints the finest and best executed steel engravings of all the illustrated magazines. Its letter-press is also beautiful. Its literature is good, with the exception of its occasional toadying to such pretenders to statesmanship as Schuyler Colfax and others of that ilk. $3. 50 per year. Address Poe and Hitchcock, Cincinnati, O.

BALLOU'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE.—The January number of this publication is before us. It is filled with choice light reading. B. P. Shillaber (Dame Partington) is a contributor to its pages. It is well printed and is certainly very cheap at $1,50 per annum; seven copies, $9.00; thirteen copies, $15,00. Address Elliott, Thomes and Talbot, 63 Congress st., Boston, Mass.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK.—Godey begins the New Year with a truly brilliant number. The letter-press is beautiful, whilst the fashion plates and engravings are unapproachably excellent. The extension Fashion Plate is two feet in length and printed on both sides, a novelty in this department. The reading matter is also very good. Marion Harland begins a new story, entitled "Phemie Rowland," which promises to be her very best. Each number of "Godey" for 1868, will contain twelve pages more reading matter than was formerly given. Price $3.00 per annum. Address L. A. Godey, Philadelphia. Godey's Lady's Book and BEDFORD GAZETTE, one year, $4.50.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE.—This magazine is deservedly a favorite among the ladies. Its fashions are always the latest and always reliable. Its literature is excellent, such writers as Mrs. Ann S. Stephens (whom even Edgar A. Poe praised) Ella Rodman, and Mrs. R. H. Davis, contributing to its pages. Besides it is the cheapest ladies' magazine published. Price $2.00 per year. Any person sending us $50.00, shall have 15 copies of the BEDEORD GAZETTE and 15 copies of "Peterson" for 1868, which puts this excellent Magazine at the low price of $1.34 per annum. Address C. J. Peterson, 306 Chestnut st., Philadelphia.

MERRY'S MUSEUM.—We are in receipt of this interesting and beautifully printed magazine for children. The present number (January) contains a number of pretty tales, handsome illustrations, ingenious puzzles, &c., &c. Price, $1.50 per annum; 3 copies, $4.00; 5 copies $6.00; 11 copies, $12.00. Address H. B. Fulton, Boston, Mass.

APPLETON'S DICKENS.—We call attention to the advertisement of D. Appleton & Co., New York, by which it will be seen that that celebrated publishing house are now publishing a complete edition of the works of Charles Dickens at the low price of $4. 50 for the entire set.

THE NURSERY.—We are in receipt of this excellent little Magazine, for January, 1868. It is replete with interesting matter for youngest readers. Price $1.50 a year. Address John L. Shorey, No 13 Washington st., Boston, Mass.

ADDRESS TO THE NERVOUS AND DEBILITATED whose sufferings have been protracted from hideous causes, and whose cases require prompt treatment to render existence desirable. If you are suffering or have suffered from involuntary discharges, what effect does it produce upon your general health? Do you feel weak, debilitated, easily tired? Does a little extra exertion produce palpitation of the heart? Does your liver, or urinary organs, or your kidneys, frequently get out of order? Is your urine sometimes thick, milky, or flocky, or is it ropy on settling? Or does a thick scum rise to the top? Or is a sediment at the bottom after it has stood awhile? Do you have spells of short breathing or dyspepsia? Are your bowels constipated? Do you have spells of fainting or rushes of blood to the head? Is your memory impaired? Is your mind constantly dwelling upon this subject? Do you feel dull, listless, moping, tired of company, of life? Do you wish to be left alone, to get away from everybody? Does any little thing make you start or jump? Is your sleep broken or restless? Is the lustre of your eye as brilliant? The bloom on your cheek as bright? Do you enjoy yourself in society as well? Do you pursue your business with the same energy? Do you feel as much confidence in yourself? Are your spirits dull and flagging, given to fits or melancholy? If so, do not lay it to your liver or dyspepsia. Have you restless nights? Your back weak, your knees weak, and have but little appetite, and you attribute this to dyspepsia or liver-complaint?

Now, reader, self-abuse, venereal diseases badly cured, and sexual excesses, are all capable of producing a weakness of the generative organs. The organs of generation, when in perfect health, make the man. Did you ever think that those bold, defiant, energetic, persevering, successful business men are always those whose generative organs are in perfect health? You never hear such men complain of being melancholy, of nervousness, of palpitation of the heart. They are never afraid they cannot succeed in business; they don't become sad and discouraged; they are always polite and pleasant in the company of ladies, and look you and them right in the face—none of your downcast looks or any other meanness about them. I do not mean those who keep the organs inflamed by running to excess. These will not only ruin their constitutions, but also those they do business with or for.

How many men from badly-cured diseases, from the effects of self-abuse and excesses, have brought about that state of weakness in those organs that has reduced the general system so much as to induce almost every other disease—idiocy, lunacy, paralysis, spinal affections, suicide, and almost every other form of disease which humanity is heir to, and the real cause of the trouble scarcely ever suspected, and have doctored for all but the right one.

Diseases of these organs require the use of a diuretic. HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic, and is a certain cure for diseases of the Bladder, Kidneys, Gravel, Dropsy, Organic Weakness, Female Complaints, General Debility, and all diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating and no matter how long standing.

If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity may ensue. Our flesh and blood are supported from these sources, and the health and happiness, and that of Posterity, depends upon prompt use of a reliable remedy.

AMERICAN
WATCHES.

The true value of Machinery applied to Watchmaking is not that by its use Watches are made rapidly, but that they are made correctly. Very few people know why a Waltham Watch should be superior to any other. In the first place, at Waltham the Watch is regarded as only a machine, to be constructed like any other machine, on mechanical principles. If the watches are good, it is because the machinery is good. Of course there must be no defect in the principle or plan of the movement—no mistake in the sizes or shapes of the pieces of which it is composed—nothing wanting in their properties, and no error in their positions. These points once thoroughly settled, it rests wholly with the machinery, constructed with infinite diversity of form and function expressly for the purpose, to produce the finished pieces. By means of multiplying guages and microscopes, tests and inspection for the detection of wear in the cutting tools, and for faults and flaws in steel or stone are made to accompany the work in every stage from beginning to end. As a necessary result, the watch goes together a perfect machine. Every part is found to fit properly in its place. Every pin may be pushed till it pinches, and every screw turned home. Instead of a sluggish and feeble action, the balance, even under the pressure of the lightest mainspring, vibrates with a wide and free motion, and the beat has the clear ringing sound always characteristic of the Waltham Watch. The machine is a time-keeper from the start.

This system of watchmaking is unknown in foreign countries, and is entirely original with the Waltham Company. The Company claim that by it they produce watches that cannot be equalled for every quality which makes a watch valuable. Simple in plan and correct in principle, the movement is not only beautifully finished, substantial, accurate and cheap, but is uniform in the minutest details, not easily damaged, and when repaired always as good as new. There are different grades of finish in the different varieties of watches made by the Waltham Company, as there are different sizes and shapes to suit all tastes and means; but every Watch that bears the genuine trade-mark of "WALTHAM" is guarantied to be a good one, and nobody need be afraid to buy it.

EVERY WATCH FULLY WARRANTED.

For Sale by all First-class Dealers in the United States and British Provinces.

MODERATE COUNSELS.

The calm of the public mind has not been disturbed by the meeting of Congress.

The several elections in the early part of November were followed by a peace that passed all expectation. Up to that event, the conflict of parties was waxing more and more fierce as each week passed by, and the gravest apprehensions were felt as to the result of the war of opinions. At no period since the failure of the rebellion. has the sky appeared more threatening than during the month of October last. Such was the violence of party men, so fearful were the extreme views they were disposed to press, in the struggle to keep or gain the power, that dispassionate men who stand aloof from the struggle of contending factions were at a loss to understand whereunto this thing would grow.

But the elections were followed by an ominous and expressive calm.

We have read the journals representing the extremes of both sides, and they draw one and the same lesson—that moderate counsels must prevail; the war is over; slavery is dead; secession is buried; peace has returned; harvests of grain have been gathered from fields fattened with brothers' blood; the wanderers have come back; let us kill the fatted calf and be glad; the nation was (almost) dead and is alive again, was lost and is found. This is the public sentiment of the American people. This sentiment dictates concilation and gentleness, with justice and prudence. This spirit requires us to do as we would be done by. It forbids to break the bruised reed. It demands of us to lay no burdens on our brethren which we are not willing ourselves to bear. It teaches all parties to lay aside prejudice and animosity, while, with the ancient feelings of American union we get together again as soon as possible.—N. Y. Observer.

SOLOMON'S THRONE.

The following account of this remarkable piece of mechanism purports to be taken from the Persian manuscript, called "The History of Jerusalem:"

The sides of it were of pure gold, the feet of emeralds and rubies intermixed with pearls, each of which were as large as an ostrich's egg. The throne had seven sides; on each side were delineated orchards full of trees, the branches of which were of precious stones, representing fruit, ripe and unripe; on the tops of the trees were to be seen figures of birds of plumage, particularly the peacock, the etanh, and the karges. All these birds were hollowed within artificially, so as to occasionally utter melodious sounds, such at the ear of mortal never heard. On the first step were delineated vine branches having bunches of grapes, composed of precious stones of various kings, fashioned in such a manner as to represent the various colors of purple, violet, green and red, so as to render the appearance of real fruit. On the second step, on each side of the throne, were two lions of terrible aspect, large as life, and formed of cast gold.

The nature of this remarkable throne was such that when Solomon placed his foot on the first steps, the birds spread their wings and made a fluttering noise in the air. On his reaching the third step, the whole assemblage of demons, and fairies, and men, repeated the praises of the Deity. When he arrived at the fourth step, voices were heard addressing him in the followiug manner: "Son of David, be thankfnl for the blessings which the Almighty has bestowed upon us." The same was repeated on his reaching the fifth step. On his reaching the sixth, all of the children of Israel joined them; and on his arrival at the seventh, all the birds and animals became in motion, and ceased not until he had placed himself on the royal seat, when the birds, lions and other animals, by secret springs, discharged a shower of the most precious perfumes on Solomon, after which two of the karges descended and placed the golden crown upon his head.

Before the throne was a column of burnished gold, on the top of which was a golden dove, which held in its beak a volume bound in silver. In this book were written the Psalms of David, and the dove having presented the book to the King, he read aloud a portion of it to the children of Israel. It is further related that on the approach of evil persons to the throne, the lions were wont to set up a terrible roar, and to lash their tails with violence, the birds also, and demons and genii to utter horrid cries; so for fear of them no one dared be guilty of falsehood, but all confessed their crimes. Such was the throne of Solomon, the son of David.

A POLICE STORY.

A Paris correspondent writes: "The recent death of Nuzillard, the senior cashier at the Comptoir d'Escompte, through whose hands more gold has passed than would buy up an empire, reminds me of the following story: Nuzillard has always enjoyed the reputation of being the most clever, and at the same time most prudent cashier. However, in 1849 he managed to get robbed of a sum of £4,000 in £40 notes. The director of the Comptoir, although he had always had the greatest confidence in the often tried probity of his clerk, still thinking it strange that he could have had so large a packet of notes taken from him without his knowledge, went to the Prefect of Police, M. Carlier, and told him all about it. The latter pronounced an opinion favorable to the honesty of poor Nuzillard. 'Remember,' said the director, 'that a hundred bank notes make quite a thick packet on his breast—, Nothing for a clever thief,' interrupted M. Carlier. 'Here is a newspaper, fold it, and button it in your breast pocket. Now I will not promise you it will still be there when you leave the Perfecture!' The director laughed, and declared it was impossible, while he carefully placed the newspaper at the side of his pocket-book. The two gentlemen remained some time in conversation during which the Prefect of Police was receiving people and writing orders. When the director rose to go, M. Carlier, after shaking hands with him, said: 'By-the-by, I suppose you have the newspaper all right!' But, lo and behold! to the intense stupefaction of the director, both pocket-book and paper had disappeared, whereupon the Prefect rang the bell, and the amateur thief, who had done the deed on a pencil command from his master, and the astonished owner of the pocket-book then and there declared his complete belief in his cashier's innocence."

A MODEL MERCHANT.

"Business is business," "and a contract is a contract." These are sound commercial maxims, but the following incident illustrates the nature of the business community which obeys the inspired injunction, "Look not every man on his own things, but every man, also, on the things of others:"

A merchant of New York, during the late war, made a contract with a mechanic to supply him with a number of tin cans. Not long after this the price of tin rose so much that the contractor must lose money by completing the ware at the price agreed upon. However, he said nothing, but went on delivering the cans. When the first bill for the pay of the cans was received, the employer called upon him and said,—

"I understand you are losing money on this job."

"Yes," replied the contractor, "but I can stand it; a contract is a contract, you know."

"How much will you lose?" asked the gentleman.

"O, no matter," was the reply: I don't complain, and you ought not to.'

"I insist on knowing."

"Well, since you desire it, I shall lose so much a hundred," naming the amount.

"Well, sir," said the noble-hearted man, "you must not lose this—it would not be right. I shall add the amount to your bill, and, as the price of material may still rise, I will advance you the money for the whole contract, which, no doubt, you can use to advantage."

The difference thus paid, to which the contractor laid no claim, amounted to five hundred dollars. That was something more than business honesty; it was Christian principle carried out in business. The world needs just such examples to convince it of the truth of religion.

ADVICE TO A DYSPEPTIC.

You have asked me to prescribe for you. You expect medicine, perhaps you hope for whisky, just now the rage for chronic maladies, but I shall give you nothing to swallow; you have swallowed too much already. Of all the maladies dyspepsia is the most distressing; to get rid of its horrors you would part with your right arm; I believe you, but would you part with a portion of your table luxuries? I fear not; but presuming you are in earnest, I will prescribe for you:

1. Rise early, dress warm and go out; if strong, walk; if weak, saunter, Drink cold water three times—of all cold baths this is best for dyspepsia; after half an hour or more, come in for breakfast.

2. For breakfast eat a piece of good steak half as large as your hand, a slice of coarse bread and a baked apple; eat very slowly; talk very pleasantly with your neighbors; read cheerful comments of journals; avoid hot biscuits and strong coffee; drink nothing.

3. Digest for an hour, and then to your work; I trust it is in the open air. Work hard till noon, and then rest body and mind till dinner; sleep little; drink water.

4. For dinner—two or three o'clock—eat a slice of beef or mutton or fish as large as your hand, a potato, two or three spoonsful of other vegetables, a slice of coarse bread; give more than half an hour to this meal; use no drink.

5. After dinner play anaconda for an hour; now for the social, for pleasant games—a good time.

6. No supper—a little toast and tea, even for supper, will make your recovery very slow.

In a warm room, bathe your skin with cold water hastily, and go to bed in a well ventilated room before nine o'clock.

Follow this prescription for three months and your stomach will so far recover that you can indulge for some time in all sorts of irregular and gluttonous eating; or if you have resolved, in the fear of Heaven, to present your bodies, living sacrifices, holy and acceptable unto God, and will continue to eat and work like a Christian, your distressing malady will soon be forgotten.—Dio Lewis, M. D.

JAPANESE MAPS.

There are now in this city some specimens of the work of Japanese which shows that they have attained a proficiency in some branches almost if not quite equal to our own. One of these is a large map of the Imperial City of Yeddo, apparently executed by lithographic process, or something similar, and finished up in colors. No job of this kind, executed in Europe or Ameca, could excel it in minutences of detail and careful neatness of execution. The streets, many of which are seventeen miles in length, are all laid down with apparent mathematical exactness, the vast system of canals like those of Venice, but on an immensely extended scale, is also exhibited, and the location of the Imperial Palace and grounds, covering several square miles of territory, and the palaces of some 250 princes who reside in the city, are all given.—The city is said to contain 1,500,000 houses, and 5,000,000 people, and to have a commerce more extensive by far than that of any city on earth, though this last seems incredible. Another is a birdseye view of Yokohama, with the foreign quarter to prevent indiscriminate commingling of the races, the harbor, the surrounding hils, &c. These maps were purchased by a gentleman now in this city, at a native stationer's shop in Yokohama, and are said to be, as in fact they must almost necessarily be, entirely of native workmanship. No foreigners have yet been allowed to settle in Yeddo, and the surveys of that city from which the map was made must have been wholly by native enginers.—San Francisco Alta.

NEGRO VOTING.

The Jackson, Louisiana, Flag presents a new phase of the negro voting question. In that part of the South the freedmen were told that unless they voted with the Radicals the supplies of provisions for the coming year would be stopped. In consequence of this information, communicated in the lodge rooms of the colored loyal leagues, the negroes assembled immediately after the election to make requsitions for the donations promised. The Flag says: "There was a full exhibition of negro credulity and ignorance on the occasion. As a sample of what they expect, we give the following bill made out by a freedman for his family for supplies for the next year: Fifty pounds coffee, two barrels flour, fifty pounds sugar, four hundred pounds bacon, one bolt calico, one bolt domestic, half barrel molases, one double-barrel shot-gun, one pistol, &c." This is the manner in which the negroes are manipulated in the loyal leagues. They are bribed by promises, cajoled by flattery, their passions stimulated, their prejudices inflamed, and all this for the purpose of inducing them to vote the Radical ticket, to place in office persons who will disfranchise intelligent white men, and place the balance of the power in the hands of such individuals as those constituting the gathering at Jackson. What hope is there for the peace and prosperity of a section while political power wielded by persons who can be thus fooled and deceived, and why should white men of the North support a party willing to debauch our whole elective system to hold power in the Union? This question of negro voting lies at the very foundation of the Radical party, and they will push on that column regardless of consequences to the real prosperity of the nation. If the North will not allow the experiment to be tried here, why should they force the system upon the South, especially in the face of such facts as those presented in the Flag?—Age.

FRANKLIN'S WIFE.

To promote her husband's interests she attended in his little shop, where she bought rags, sewed pamphlets, folded newspapers, and sold the few articles in which he dealt, such as ink, papers, lampblack, blacks and other stationery. At the same time, she was an excellent housekeepers, and besides being economical herself, taught her somewhat careless, disorderly husband to be economical also. Sometimes, Franklin was clothed from head to foot in garments which his wife had both woven and made, and for a long time she performed all the work of the house without the assistance of a servant.

Nevertheless, she knew how to be liberal at proper times. Franklin tells us that for some years after his marriage, his breakfast was bread and milk, which they ate out of a two penny earthen vessel, with a pewter spoon; but one morning, on going down to breakfast, he found upon the table a beautiful china bowl, from whice his bread and milk was steaming, with a silver spoon by its side, which had cost a sum equal in our currency to ten dollars. When he expressed his astonishment at this unwonted splendor, Mrs. Franklin only remarked, that she thought her husband deserved a silver spoon and china bowl as much as any of his neighbors.

Franklin prospered in his business until he became the most famous editor and most flourishing printer in America, which gave him the pleasure of relieving his wife from the cares of business, and enabled him to provide for her a spacious and well furnished abode. She adorned a high station as well as she had borne a lowly one, and presided at her husband's liberal table as gracefully as when he ate his breakfast of bread and milk from a two penny bowl.—Parton's Life of Franklin.

A PEEP INTO BRIGHAM YOUNG'S SERAGLIO.

But let us seek a field of interest. Here on our right hand are the private grounds of him who ruleth in Zion, Brigham Young. Twenty acres he owns in the heart of the city, where are pleasant walks and floral beauties, surrounded by a stone wall. Within this enclosure are three princely mansions, where live his thirty wives and numberless progeny. Each of these houses carries a name, that disorder and confusion may not arise in the camp of Israel. They are the Bee Hive House, Lion House and White House on the Hill. This mighty wall is designed to shut out the world, to exclude inquisitive sight, but we shall venture to describe the scene within. It is the hour of sunset, gilding the mountains with rapturous light.—We approach the massive iron gates, and unlike Moore's disconsolate Peri, we are permitted to enter the domestic paradise. Strolling leisurely along the grassy walks, our attention is attracted to the singular movements of an elderly woman, her hair streaked with silver threads, yet with a step firm and elastic. This evening's air is inviting, and she seems to enjoy the freshness. In her hand is an open book (can it be "Griffith Gaunt; or jealousy?") which closes with a nervous twitch of the hand as her fading eye rekindles with a look that would seem to say, 'Oh, how I despise you!' This woman, forty years ago, became Brigham Young's first wife. But who can be the victim of that malignant scorning? What poor mortal is being crushed between her clenched teeth? Can it be I, only a looker-on—a harmless and unoffending Gentile? No; but we have discovered the study of her hate—the bohum upas that has been planted in her side. Yonder is a cluster of trees—they are aspen and maple—and under their thin, yellow-tinged tops, is a bright eyed woman of twenty summers, who now leans upon an old man's arm. By what power we know not, but, as if drawn by magic hand, our steps are directed thitherward. The now mistress of the heart and situation flashes winsome looks and breathes poetic words; he, old man that he is, and slave of sensualism, treads the floor of his own paradise, and smiles approving glances. This man is Brigham Young, and this woman his very last and much the prettiest wife. No wonder that the "old creature" looked the disagreeable. Perhaps there are others peeping from behind damask curtains who are also mourning the loss of their place in that old man's affections.

TEXAN BEEF.—At the taking of the last census Texas had, or was estimated to have, 3,500,000 head of horned cattle. They were worth little then, just as in the South American pampas the best stock was killed for the tongue and hide. A plan lately devised has introduced much of the South American beef into Europe in a comparatively fresh state. The fact that Texas cattle can be bought for eight to ten dollars a head in gold there, while selling at twenty to forty cents a pound here, has led to a plan by which some 30,000 to 40,000 Texas cattle have been collected at Abilene, on the Arkansas river, seventy-five miles from its mouth, one hundred and sixty-five miles west from Kansas City and three hundred and seventy-five miles from northern Texas. Great preparations have been made for receiving and fattening animals there, and from there they will be transported to the east. They can be sold for four cents a pound, gross, in Chicago, and leave a good profit over all expenses. They can be sold for six and seven cents here, with equal results. The matter has been so well demonstrated that extensive preparations have been made for the ensuing year, and the Texas farmers will be rejoiced to get cash for their stock and we to get beef for our cash. The wild cattle are not quite so succulent eating when killed in the grass as our stall-fed beasts. But when a Texas cow has been well fed for four or six weeks and kept quiet, nothing but buffalo hump is tenderer, juicier or better flavored.

AWFUL.

In order to understand the following, it is necessary for the reader to know that SECRETARY SEWARD has contracted with the King of Denmark, for the annexation of the island of St. Thomas, to the United States, and that his Majesty, KING CHRISTIAN, has determined to leave the question of the transfer of the island to our government, to the decision of the inhabitants of the island:

"But CHRISTIAN IX insisted that his faithful West Indians should have their choice, and thereby it may turn out that he has saved the Senate the necessity of ratifying the treaty, and the House the trouble of voting upon an appropriation. There are many reasons why the inhabitants of St. Thomas might hesitate about changing their condition. The Government of Denmark is mild, and the St. Thomasians have the disposition of their own affairs in their own hands. Their port is almost a free port, the duties being so low as to be slightly more than nominal. The result is, that they have a brisk trade with all parts of the West Indies, and the port is a stopping-place between the United States and South America, and between Europe and South America. They are doing well under the flag of Denmark, and if they know as much as we do, they will doubt whether they could do better by adopting the stars and stripes. They will incur thereby a heavy tariff, a frightful national debt, an excise, heavy taxation, greenbacks, and a suspension of specie payments; they will gain the right to send a delegate to Washington, and have political quarrels. No advantage can ensue to St. Thomas which will balance the disadvantages. The King of Denmark would pocket seven millions of dollars by the transaction, but his West Indian subjects get not a penny of the amount. They have, therefore, little to gain by the transfer, and it may be that they will refuse to ratify the bargain, and thus while they flatter CHRISTIAN IX by an expression of their willingness to change their allegiance, they will relieve Mr SEWARD of a deal of anxiety."

Can the reader guess the source of the sentiments expressed in the above quoted article? "Charleston Mercury," say you? No. "Richmond Enquirer?" No. "N. Y. Daybook?" Guess again. "Brick Pomeroy?" Not at all! That article is clipped from the editorial columns of that most abject of all newspaper toadies to the present Radical Congress, that quintessence of double-distilled, rectified and bottled-up "loyalty," the Philadelphia Inquirer! Now just think of it! The idea of a "loyal" newspaper declaring that "there are many reasons why the inhabitants of St. Thomas might hesitate about" joining their fortunes with the "best government God ever gave to man!" Isn't it awful? "The government of Denmark is mild," says the Inquirer. Does it mean to insinuate that the Danish despotism is milder than the lenient rule of our Radical Congress? It cannot be! That would be flat "disloyalty," and, of course, the Philadelphia Inquirer is above suspicion on that score. "Their port is almost a free port." Does the Inquirer intend to convey the idea that Free Trade is a blessing to the St. Thomasians? Impossible! That would be an argument against "Protection to American Industry," of which that journal is a noted advocate. "They are doing well under the flag of Denmark, and if they know as much as we do, they will doubt whether they could do better by adopting the stars and stripes." What, truer happiness and greater prosperity, under the flag of an "Old World Despot," than under the Stars and Stripes of "Free America!" Is the Inquirer jesting? "They will incur thereby a heavy tariff, a frightful national debt, an excise, heavy taxation, greenbacks, and a suspension of specie payments; they will gain the right to send a delegate to Washington, and to have political quarrels." "Incur a heavy tariff!" Isn't that exactly what the Inquirer has demanded for this country? Isn't a "heavy tariff" protection to America, and if St. Thomas becomes a part of the Yankee nation, will it not also be "protected?" "A frightful national debt!" Why, do not Jay, Cooke & Co. tell us that "a national debt is a national blessing," and is not the Inquirer the organ of those renowned bankers? How shocking! That "a great national blessing" should be thus suddenly and strangely transformed into a "frightful" national curse! "An excise, heavy taxation, greenbacks, and a suspension of specie payments." Pshaw! What has "an excise," or "heavy taxation," to do with the happiness of our people? Are there not plenty of untaxed Government bonds, and cannot every body, the St. Thomasians included, invest in these and thus escape "an excise" and "heavy taxation?" As to "incurring greenbacks," if the St. Thomasians wish to avoid that difficulty, let them turn printers. But not much trouble need be apprehended on that subject, as the Philadelphia Inquirer and kindred sheets assured us, last fall, that in case of the election of Judge Sharswood, greenbacks would be abolished. Hence, Sharswood having been elected, our prospective insular fellow citizens need not fear that if they are annexed to Yankeedom, they will have to "incur greenbacks." "They will gain the right to send a delegate to Washington, and to have political quarrrels." We are not sure that these are quite all the rights that people acquire now-a-days, by becoming American citizens; we insist upon it that the Inquirer, being a loyal paper, ought not to say that they are. But are they not enough, in themselves, to induce any foreign people, to throw off their present allegiance and unite their destiny with ours? Why, the very fact of being permitted to send a delegate to Congress, who may sit beneath the droppings of that humane philosopher and magnificent patriot, Thad. Stevens, should be sufficient inducement to "all the world and the rest of mankind" to renounce their present governments and swear fealty to the American Eagle. Indeed, viewing the question in all its aspects, we think the Inquirer's article is perfectly awful!

THE WAY IT GOES.

Not a tithe of the extravagance and wastefulness of Congress, during the past seven years, has ever been told.—Could the American people look behind the curtain and note the enormities which they are made to bear, in order to maintain a political aristocracy in luxury and ease, they would cast the burden from their backs, before the dawning of another day. But the hideous features of "the veiled prophet of Khorassan," are well concealed. We do not see the horrible, blood-shot eye, the thick, leathery and pouched-out lips, the purple, bloated cheeks, the livid, corrugated forehead; we only, occasionally, when one of his attendants in a whiff of anger, disturbs the veil, catch a glimpse of his red, rum-blossomed nose. In other words, we, the people, are not permitted to see the monstrous schemes and wholesale frauds, by which the revenues of the country, our taxes, are almost wholly absorbed, except once in a while, when Congressman DAWES is forced to declare that "more was stolen from the Treasury in one year," under his own party's administration, "than was required to carry on the government four years under President Buchanan;" or, when brother Greeley, in a fit of indignation at the "blockheads" and "howling Pharisees," (as he styles the politicians of his party) lets the cat out of the bag, though it be only to put it back again. By the way, Horace has just lately been permitting the feline extremities to protrude from the Radical sack. The claws are just visible:

"For two years, Mr. Foster, of Connecticut, drew a salary of $8,000 and $2,000 for a private secretary, when he was, by the letter of the law, entitled to no more than the salary of a Senator of the United States. Mr. Wade does the same now. He draws the salary of Vice-President, and is known as Acting 'Vice-President,' an office not recognized by the Constitution or any law of the United States. It is entirely a brevet rank; the extra pay has been attached to it since 1865 by courtesy, and not by right; and so on to the end of the chapter.

* * * * * *

"The Republican Congressional Committee have had in their employ, as Southern missionaries, for a year past, a large number of men paid as clerks and officers of the House of Representatives. Is there warrant of law for this? If so, it would enlighten a great many anxious inquirers to point out just where it is."

This is from an article published in the N. Y. Tribune, a few days ago.—We refrain from comment, for our purpose is merely to lay before the people the evidence of Radical extravagance and recklessness in the expenditure of the public money, and to let them judge for themselves as to the remedy.

THERE appears to be some prospect of the removal of that miserable scoundrel JOHN POPE, who now plays the tyrant over the people of Georgia, Alabama and Florida; the same whom General W. B. Franklin and General John F. Reynolds declared they would not believe on oath. The sooner his official head drops off, the better.

P. S. Since the above was put in type, we have received the welcome news that Gen. Pope has been removed and Gen. Meade appointed in his stead. Gen. Ord has also been relieved, at his own request, of the command of the Mississippi district, and Gen. McDowell appointed in his stead. We doubt not that these changes are for the better.

MORROW B. LOWRY, the ruffled shirt Senator from the Erie district, says that his party (the Radicals) will be compelled to nominate Grant for President, in order to get a "strengthening-plaster, nerve and bone liniment and green goggles" for the "week-kneed, bow-backed and sunken-eyed Republicans." Morrow knows what's what.

EUGENE CASSERLY, Democrat, has been elected U. S. Senator from California, to succeed John Canness, Radical. Senator Cosserly is spoken of as an able lawyer and true man. He is about 40 years of age.

PRACTICAL RESULTS.

The effect of the victories gained by the Democracy, is sensibly felt in some of the doings of Congress. For instance, the defeat of the infamous impeachment scheme, was undoubtedly secured by the Democratic successes in the late elections. Had the Radicals carried their tickets, "the weak-kneed, bow-backed and sunken-eyed" of their representatives in Congress, would have been sufficiently stiffened as to the knee-joints and the vertebræ, and goggled as to the visual organs, to have voted for, instead of against, impeachment. But their districts having voted against their party, they quaked and quailed and could not see the point of the impeachers. Again, we see it stated, that there is some talk, by leading Radicals, of taxing Government bonds, and there is a general hubbub in their camp on the financial question. Before the late elections, there wasn't a Radical in all the land that did not scout the taxing of Government bonds as rank "repudiation." Thus have the Democracy brought their enemies "to their milk." On the negro question alone, does Radicalism refuse to recede. Wilson, Kelley, all of the Radical leaders, tell us they will not yield an inch of their ground on Negro Supremacy. Very well. The people, through the Democratic party, will give them another lesson. Perhaps, they will learn to respect the popular will after a little more of the same sort of instruction received by them last fall.

THE NATIONAL RAILROAD--525 MILES COMPLETED.

A few days ago it was announced that "500 miles of the Union Pacific Railroad had been completed west from Omaha;" and the bare announcement was made the text for many interesting facts concerning the history of this great national enterprise, and the wonderful rapidity with which its construction has been carried forward. The public had hardly begun to appreciate the fact that half a thousand miles of railroad had been built in two years into and through what had been an untenanted waste, before the telegraph told of the celebration of the completion of the 517th mile, and the public welcome given to the locomotive by the City of Cheyenne, which two months before had no existence, but which now numbers its inhabitants by thousands. This fact was also proudly commented upon as an illustration of the restless vigor with which this Railroad was being built, but while the people have been reading these congratulatory paragraphs, the tracklayers have kept steadily at work, and the last bulletin announces the completion of 525 miles. How much greater distance will be accomplished before this article shall be seen by our readers, we will not venture to predict.

The whole history of this Railroad is wonderful. It has the advantage of such liberal national aid as was never before given to any private undertaking; its officers and promoters are men of national reputation and large financial experience; the road is being built under the largest railroad contract of which we have any record; the security offered its bondholders exceeds that of any other similar loan, as these bonds constitute a first mortgage upon the entire road, while the Government accepts a second lien as its own security for advances; the amount of its business, when the through line shall be completed, must of necessity be enormous, and its local traffic and profits upon the portion now in operation are unprecedented. We are sure that the further information concerning this National Railroad which will be found in another column, will be read with especial interest.

OUR BOOK TABLE.

THE GALAXY.—We have before us the January number of this popular monthly. The "Galaxy" is the most liberal, progressive and catholic of the literary magazines. Without partaking of the narrow partizanship which makes the "Atlantic Monthly" detestable, the "Galaxy" ventilates the politics, as well as the literature, of the day. We can read such articles as that entitled "The Political Outlook," in the number before us, with respect for the writer, because his argument is fair and liberal, though we conceive him to be mistaken in his views. But the "Galaxy" has other and greater attractions than its articles on politics. We find in the present number an excellent tale by Henry James, Jr., entitled "The Story of a Masterpiece;" "American and Foreign Thertaes," by Oliver Logan; "My Spiritualistic Experiences," by R. Frothingham; "The Same Christmas in Old England and New," by E. E. Hale; "Elisabetta's Christmas," by Harriet Prescott Spofford; "Burgoyne in a New Light," by W. L. Stone; "Aphoristic Cynicism," by Junius Henri Browne, a continuation of "Steven Lawrence, yeoman," by Mrs. Edwards, and last, but by no means least, the lucubrations of the "Nebulous Person," with some good poetry sandwiched among the prose.—The "Galaxy" also boasts a new cover, which we consider much more tasteful than the dutch great coat in which it was formerly arrayed. Address W. C. & F. P. Church, 39 Park Row, N. Y. city.

THE OLD GUARD.—The Old Guard, for January, is received, and fully sustains the reputation it has won as second to no magazine in our country in popular interest, while it is the ablest exponent of the true principles of Democracy. This number opens with an article by the editor, on "Tricks of President-Making," followed by a thrilling historical romance, founded upon the fall of the Italian States. It is a romance of great power, translated expressly for The Old Guard, from one of the most distnguished of all the Italian writers of modern time, Monteverde, and with a detail of the arts to which tyranny resorts to destroy liberty, containing a charming love story. "The Strange Story of Baron Trenck" is an article of great interest, and the first chapters of an original novel, by Miss Nellie Marshall, of Kentucky, entitled "Dead Under the Roses," give promise of one of the most fascinating serials of the current year. The first of Dr. Van Evrie's new series of articles on "Types of Mankind," is on the Caucasian type, illustrated with a splendid colored picture of a model man of our race. The article is of great interest, and worthy of preservation for reference on this important subject. The "Book Table," and the "Editor's Table," which are fully up to the mark of the best matter and style, close the number, which is certainly one of the ablest and most interesting of the New-Year numbers of all our magazines. Single copies, 25 cents; $3.00 per year. Van Evrie, Horton & Co., No. 162 Nassau street, New York.

LADIES' REPOSITORY.—In noticing books, we always like to begin with that part of them which is best. Following our bent in this regard, we say that the "Ladies' Repository" prints the finest and best executed steel engravings of all the illustrated magazines. Its letter-press is also beautiful. Its literature is good, with the exception of its occasional toadying to such pretenders to statesmanship as Schuyler Colfax and others of that ilk. $3.50 per year. Address Poe and Hitchcock, Cincinnati, O.

BALLOU'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE.—The January number of this publication is before us. It is filled with choice light reading. B. P. Shillaber (Dame Partington) is a contributor to its pages. It is well printed and is certainly very cheap at $1,50 per annum; seven copies, $9.00; thirteen copies, $15,00. Address Elliott, Thomes and Talbot, 63 Congress st., Boston, Mass.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK.—Godey begins the New Year with a truly brilliant number. The letter-press is beautiful, whilst the fashion plates and engravings are unapproachably excellent. The extension Fashion Plate is two feet in length and printed on both sides, a novelty in this department. The reading matter is also very good. Marion Harland begins a new story, entitled "Phemie Rowland," which promises to be her very best. Each number of "Godey" for 1868, will contain twelve pages more reading matter than was formerly given. Price $3.00 per annum. Address L. A. Godey, Philadelphia. Godey's Lady's Book and BEDFORD GAZETTE, one year, $4.50.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE.—This magazine is deservedly a favorite among the ladies. Its fashions are always the latest and always reliable. Its literature is excellent, such writers as Mrs. Ann S. Stephens (whom even Edgar A. Poe praised) Ella Rodman, and Mrs. R. H. Davis, contributing to its pages. Besides it is the cheapest ladies' magazine published. Price $2.00 per year. Any person sending us $50.00, shall have 15 copies of the BEDEORD GAZETTE and 15 copies of "Peterson" for 1868, which puts this excellent Magazine at the low price of $1.34 per annum. Address C. J. Peterson, 306 Chestnut st., Philadelphia.

MERRY'S MUSEUM.—We are in receipt of this interesting and beautifully printed magazine for children. The present number (January) contains a number of pretty tales, handsome illustrations, ingenious puzzles, &c., &c. Price, $1.50 per annum; 3 copies, $4.00; 5 copies $6.00; 11 copies, $12.00. Address H. B. Fulton, Boston, Mass.

APPLETON'S DICKENS.—We call attention to the advertisement of D. Appleton & Co., New York, by which it will be seen that that celebrated publishing house are now publishing a complete edition of the works of Charles Dickens at the low price of $4.50 for the entire set.

THE NURSERY.—We are in receipt of this excellent little Magazine, for January, 1868. It is replete with interesting matter for youngest readers. Price $1.50 a year. Address John L. Shorey, No 13 Washington st., Boston, Mass.

ADDRESS TO THE NERVOUS AND DEBILITATED whose sufferings have been protracted from hideous causes, and whose cases require prompt treatment to render existence desirable. If you are suffering or have suffered from involuntary discharges, what effect does it produce upon your general health? Do you feel weak, debilitated, easily tired? Does a little extra exertion produce palpitation of the heart? Does your liver, or urinary organs, or your kidneys, frequently get out of order? Is your urine sometimes thick, milky, or flocky, or is it ropy on settling? Or does a thick scum rise to the top? Or is a sediment at the bottom after it has stood awhile? Do you have spells of short breathing or dyspepsia? Are your bowels constipated? Do you have spells of fainting or rushes of blood to the head? Is your memory impaired? Is your mind constantly dwelling upon this subject? Do you feel dull, listless, moping, tired of company, of life? Do you wish to be left alone, to get away from everybody? Does any little thing make you start or jump? Is your sleep broken or restless? Is the lustre of your eye as brilliant? The bloom on your cheek as bright? Do you enjoy yourself in society as well? Do you pursue your business with the same energy? Do you feel as much confidence in yourself? Are your spirits dull and flagging, given to fits or melancholy? If so, do not lay it to your liver or dyspepsia. Have you restless nights? Your back weak, your knees weak, and have but little appetite, and you attribute this to dyspepsia or liver-complaint?

Now, reader, self-abuse, venereal diseases badly cured, and sexual excesses, are all capable of producing a weakness of the generative organs. The organs of generation, when in perfect health, make the man. Did you ever think that those bold, defiant, energetic, persevering, successful business men are always those whose generative organs are in perfect health? You never hear such men complain of being melancholy, of nervousness, of palpitation of the heart. They are never afraid they cannot succeed in business; they don't become sad and discouraged; they are always polite and pleasant in the company of ladies, and look you and them right in the face—none of your downcast looks or any other meanness about them. I do not mean those who keep the organs inflamed by running to excess. These will not only ruin their constitutions, but also those they do business with or for.

How many men from badly-cured diseases, from the effects of self-abuse and excesses, have brought about that state of weakness in those organs that has reduced the general system so much as to induce almost every other disease—idiocy, lunacy, paralysis, spinal affections, suicide, and almost every other form of disease which humanity is heir to, and the real cause of the trouble scarcely ever suspected, and have doctored for all but the right one.

Diseases of these organs require the use of a diuretic. HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic, and is a certain cure for diseases of the Bladder, Kidneys, Gravel, Dropsy, Organic Weakness, Female Complaints, General Debility, and all diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating and no matter how long standing.

If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity may ensue. Our flesh and blood are supported from these sources, and the health and happiness, and that of Posterity, depends upon prompt use of a reliable remedy.

AMERICAN
WATCHES.

The true value of Machinery applied to Watchmaking is not that by its use Watches are made rapidly, but that they are made correctly. Very few people know why a Waltham Watch should be superior to any other. In the first place, at Waltham the Watch is regarded as only a machine, to be constructed like any other machine, on mechanical principles. If the watches are good, it is because the machinery is good. Of course there must be no defect in the principle or plan of the movement—no mistake in the sizes or shapes of the pieces of which it is composed—nothing wanting in their properties, and no error in their positions. These points once thoroughly settled, it rests wholly with the machinery, constructed with infinite diversity of form and function expressly for the purpose, to produce the finished pieces. By means of multyplying guages and microscopes, tests and inspection for the detection of wear in the cutting tools, and for faults and flaws in steel or stone are made to accompany the work in every stage from beginning to end. As a necessary result, the watch goes together a perfect machine. Every part is found to fit properly in its place. Every pin may be pushed till it pinches, and every screw turned home. Instead of a sluggish and feeble action, the balance, even under the pressure of the lightest mainspring, vibrates with a wide and free motion, and the beat has the clear ringing sound always characteristic of the Waltham Watch. The machine is a time-keeper from the start.

This system of watchmaking is unknown in foreign countries, and is entirely original with the Waltham Company. The Company claim that by it they produce watches that cannot be equalled for every quality which makes a watch valuable. Simple in plan and correct in principle, the movement is not only beautifully finished, substantial, accurate and cheap, but is uniform in the minutest details, not easily damaged, and when repaired always as good as new. There are different grades of finish in the different varieties of watches made by the Waltham Company, as there are different sizes and shapes to suit all tastes and means; but every Watch that bears the genuine trade-mark of "WALTHAM" is guarantied to be a good one, and nobody need be afraid to buy it.

NEW YEAR.—We wish our readers all a happy New Year. Selah!

CARRIER'S GREETING to the patrons of the BEDFORD GAZETTE, January 1, 1868:

Farewell, Old Year!
Thy race is run;
We'll shed no tear
Upon thy bier,
But look with cheer
To that New Year
Whose days are just begun.
Farewell, Old Year!

Farewell, the things
Brought forth within
This twelve-month time;
Farewell, the din,
The strife and sin,
The wrong and crime,
Dropp'd from the wings
Of the dragon dread,
That on the breast
Of the giant Past,
Now lies dead.

Farewell, the deeds
That stain with shame,
Sad Hist'ry's page!
The true heart bleeds
To blot their blame
From title-deeds
To Christian fame,
Of this dark Age!

Farewell, the wrong
That makes the weak
Slaves to the strong;
That seeks to wreak
Vengeance and woe
On a fall'n foe;
Whether beyond
Atlantic's wave,
In Porte Sublime,
It shames the time
With Cretan slave,
Or Albion blonde
Stains with the blood
Of the brotherhood
That, brave and good,
Would Ireland save;
Or, whether here,
In this dear land,
Whose polity,
Democracy,
Stands strong and clear,
The workmanship
Of God's own hand;
Whose glorious fame,
With hallow'd flame,
Inspires the lip
Of those who speak
In Freedom's name;
Ay, whether here
The victor North
Stamps his red foot
His pow'r to put
In vengeance forth;
Still, even here,
Farewell, the Wrong
That makes the weak
Slaves to the strong.

Welcome, New Year!
Time's latest born!
Hail, thou bright morn,
Thou child of Hope!
Thou that must cope
With Error Cyclopean,
With Falsehood Briarean,
If thou wouldst clear
The stalls Augean.
All hail,
Thou child of Hope!
Thou wilt not fail!

Welcome, New Year!
Welcome, the things
That make for peace,
For brotherhood
And ev'ry good
That virtue brings.
Welcome, the Truth,
Welcome, the Right!
Oh! Year, make fight,
In thy strong youth,
For Right and Truth.
Sweep from thy path
The legions of Error,
As the Cyclone's wrath
Whelms the isle,
And strike with terror,
The sons of Guile.

Welcome, Oh! Land,
Redeem'd, restor'd!
Welcome, the Laws
That shall give pause
To rule of sword.
Too long the brand
Of civil slaves,
Has been impress'd
Upon the breast
Of Freedom's sons,
By fools and knaves.
Welcome, the Cause
That blood-shed shuns,
And without guns,
Or swords, or staves,
The country saves.

Welcome, the time
When bells shall chime,
And trumpets sound,
In tones of glee,
The jubilee
That ushers in
The Nation free
From Tyranny;
When that sleuth-hound,
Taxation, dies
Amid the din
Of joyful cries
That shall uprise
From those who bled
At his deep wound;
When, stark and dead,
The monster lies
Who'd make our land
A Paradise
Of Fraud and Knavery,
Black freedom and
White slavery.

Welcome, New Year!
And mayst thou bring
No single thing
To cause a tear
To those who sing,
With me, thy birth;
But may thy praise
In anthems ring
O'er all the earth.

THE CARRIER.

MORE FAT HOGS.—Mr. J. J. Shoemaker of the Bedford Hotel, recently slaughtered five little pigs, aged fifteen months and six days, which weighed 2,093 pounds, clean meat. The heaviest one weighed 484 pounds. These are the largest hogs of the same size and the heaviest hogs of the same weight and at the same time the youngest hogs of the same age, that we have heard of for some time. Here is food for speckulation! Somerset Democrat, take notice!

CHRISTMAS.—The anniversary of the birth of the blessed Saviour, was duly and properly observed in our ancient borough. Business was entirely suspended. Service was held in a number of the Churches. The German Reformed Church was beautifully decorated; a Christmas tree for the delectation of the children of the Sabbath School, ornamented the Church; and handsome presents were given to the Sabbath School. The Episcopal Sabbath School had a celebration which did great credit to the children and to the superintendent. The Court Room (the temporary place of worship of the Episcopal Church) was festooned with evergreens and very prettily decorated. A very handsome Christmas tree, glittering with gifts for the children, was a notable feature. Rev. Mr. Hill delivered an interesting address to the children.—Santa Claus had evidently been about, during the previous night, for the street was filled with joyous youngsters, flourishing sticks of candy in one hand and a tin trumpet, or a toy horse, in the other. Traces of Pelsnickel, too, were discoverable, pieces of a torn mask lying here and there, and, now and then, a lazy boy, with the lamp-black of the night before not all washed out of his eyebrows, making his appearance. And thus passed Christmas; may it have been a merry one to all our readers, and may they live to see many happy returns of the same blessed anniversary.

ST. JOHN'S DAY.—MASONIC SUPPER AT THE BEDFORD HOTEL.—St. John's night, 27th inst., was made the occasion of an elegant entertainment, given by the members of Lodge No. 320, A. Y. M., at the Bedford Hotel. Mine host Shoemaker, and his excellent lady, had prepared a table which literally groaned under the weight of "good things." At nine o'clock, P. M., the table was surrounded by the assembled guests, B. F. Meyers, acting W. M., presiding. The blessing of God was invoked by Rev. A. V. C. Schenck, after which was sung the beautiful hymn, beginning, "Come, Brothers." The guests then turned their attention to the discussion of the inviting dishes before them, to which they did ample justice. After the cloth was cleared away, toasts were given and responded to as follows:

"Ancient Freemasonry." Responded to by Rev. A. V. C. Schenck.

"The Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania." In silence and standing.

"Our Worshipful Master." Responded to by Dr. C. N. Hickok.

"Our Senior Warden." Responded to by R. W. Berkstresser.

"Our Junior Warden." Responded to by T. R. Gettys.

"Our Treasurer." Responded to by Mr. J. C. Long.

"Our Secretary." Responded to by Mr. Jacob Reed.

"Our Tyler." Responded to by Mr. J. E. Black.

"Our Host and Hostess." Responded to by Mr. Isaac Mengel.

The closing hymn, "Auld Lang Syne," was then sung by the entire assembly, after which the guests dispersed, delighted with the evening's entertainment.

DEATH OF A DISTINGUISHED DIVINE.—REV. H. HARBAUGH, D. D., well known in religious and literary circles, died at his home in Mercersburg, on Saturday last, 28th ult. Dr. Harbaugh was the author of numerous religious works, and for years the editor of "The Guardian," a literary-religious magazine of much merit, in which he gave the Pennsylvania Dutch dialect a place in American Literature. "'S Alt Schul-haus an der Krick," and other poems of a similar character, will live as long as the patois of Berks and Lancaster, lingers upon the tongues of Pennsylvanians. At the time of his death, Dr. Harbaugh was a professor in the Reformed Theological Seminary at Mercersburg. His untimely death will be greatly regretted.

WEEK OF PRAYER.—The "Week of Prayer" will be observed in this place, as follows: To commence on Monday evening, Jan. 6th, in the Court House; Tuesday evening following in the German Reformed Church; Wednesday evening in the Presbyterian Church; Thursday evening in the Methodist Episcopal Church, and Friday evening in the Lutheran Chuch. The public is earnestly invited to attend these services.

OBITUARY NOTICES.—We desire to call the attention of clergymen, and others to our terms for the publication of lengthy obituary notices. The mere announcement of deaths, including age, and place and time of demise, we publish gratis. But when verses of poetry, or a disquisition on the virtues of the deceased, are added, we charge ten cents a line.

THE SUNBURNER.—A new Kerosene lamp, called the "Sunburner," has been invented. The chimney does not become heated below the flame, and can be detached from the lamp whilst the wick is in full blaze. One chimney will last a lifetime (says our informer.) For sale by Irvine & Statler.

MISLAID—My account-book with the Collectors of Bedford county for Military Taxes. Any person returning the same to me will be suitably rewarded.

BERKSTRESSERS' is the place to buy good and serviceable clothing of all kinds. Their overcoats are unsurpassed. Prices very low. Give them a call and examine their goods.

HECKERMAN'S REGELON, a certain Cure for frozen feet and bunions, has done wonders for those who have tried it. Try it and be convinced.

THE sweetest singer and the sweetest perfume of the day are Adalina Patti and Phalon's "Night-Blooming Cereus." Both are American! The fair singer enraptures everybody—the perfume is in demand everywhere.—Georgetown Union.

—Memphis must be a delightful place to live in. The other day but one policeman and a negro were killed, while about a dozen more persons were more or less injured by "promiscuous" shooting on the streets.

FACTS.

That we have unequalled facilities for conducting business to the advantage both of ourselves and patrons, we submit the following TRUTHS—well known as such to the entire business community.

1st. We have abundant cash capital, therefore—

2d. We are enabled to Buy for Cash exclusively, consequently at the lowest possible prices, with the markets of the entire world to select from.

3d. In this particular WE HAVE ADVANTAGES shared by no other house in our business.

4th. We sell for cash exclusively—therefore at the lowest possible prices—having no losses incurred by selling on credit, to provide for.

5th. We have a business experience of a quarter of a century, having been longer established than any house in our trade in Philadelphia.

6th. Our business is thoroughly systematized, the result of long experience, which has taught us what the wants of the public are, and how best to meet them.

7th. We employ the best talent in all departments, our garments are therefore unsurpassed in style, fit and workmanship.

8th. Our business is large and constantly, increasing, enabling us to keep at all times the largest, best assorted, and most complete stock of MEN'S, YOUTHS', and BOYS' CLOTHING in Philadelphia, to which large daily additions are made of fresh goods, replacing those sold.

9th. For reasons already enumerated we can, and do sell clothing in every respect superior—surpassed by none, equalled by few—at prices guaranteed in all cases lower than the the lowest elsewhere, or the sale cancelled and money refunded.

10th. If buyers should for any cause become dissatisfied after a purchase is made, if reported within a reasonable time, we pledge ourselves, by exchange, refunding of money, or otherwise, to give full satisfaction in every case, and request that all such may be reported to us for adjustment.

CARD.—Our stock of Fall and Winter Clothing is full and complete, and selling rapidly, but is as rapidly replenished each day with fresh and desirable styles of new goods, purchased recently, for cash, at great sacrifices, enabling us to sell at prices lower than have been known for years. Congratulating our patrons upon the decline of prices, which enables us to offer superior garments at such low rates, we request the favor of a call.

525 MILES OF THE
UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD
RUNNING WEST FROM OMAHA
ACROSS THE CONTINENT,
ARE NOW COMPLETED.

This brings the line to the eastern base of the Rocky Mountains, and it is expected that the track will be laid thirty miles further, to Evans' Pass, the highest point on the road, by January. The maximum grade from the foot of the mountains to the summit is but eighty feet to the mile, while that of many eastern roads is over one hundred. Work in the rock-cuttings on the western slope will continue through the winter, and there is now no reason to doubt that the entire grand line to the Pacific will be open for business in 1870.

The means provided for the construction of this Great National Work are ample. The United States grants its Six Per Cent. Bonds at the rate of from $16,000 to $48,000 per mile, for which it takes a second lien as security, and receives payment to a large if not to the full extent of its claim in services. These Bonds are issued as each twenty-mile section is finished, and after it has been examined by United States Commissioners and pronounced to be in all respects a first-class road, thoroughly supplied with depots, repair-shops, stations, and all necessary rolling stock and other equipments.

The United States also makes a donation of 12,800 acres of land to the mile, which will be a source of large revenue to the Company. Much of this land in the Platte Valley is among the most fertile in the world, and other large portions are covered with heavy pine forests and abound in coal of the best quality.

The Company is also authorized to issue its own First Mortgage Bonds to an amount equal to the issue of the Government and no more. Hon. E. D. Morgan and Hon. Oakes Ames are Trustees for the Bondholders, and deliver the Bonds to the Company only as the work progresses, so that they always represent an actual and productive value.

The authorized capital of the Company is One Hundred Million Dollars, of which over five millions have been paid in upon the work already done.

EARNINGS OF THE COMPANY.

At present, the profits of the Company are derived only from its local traffic, but this is already much more than sufficient to pay the interest on all the Bonds the Company can issue, if not another mile were built. It is not doubted that when the road is completed the through traffic of the only line connecting the Atlantic and Pacific States will be large beyond precedent, and, as there will be no competition, it can always be done at profitable rates.

It will be noticed that the Union Pacific Railroad is, in fact, a Government Work, built under the supervision of Government officers, and to a large extent with Government money, and that its bonds are issued under Government direction. It is believed that no similar security is so carefully guarded, and certainly no other is based upon a larger or more valuable property. As the Company's are offered for the present at 90 CENTS ON THE DOLLAR, they are the cheapest security in the market, being more than 15 per cent. lower than U. S. Stocks. They pay

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS

SIX PER CENT. IN GOLD,

or over NINE PER CENT. upon the investment. Subscriptions will be received in Bedford by RUPP & SHANNON, and in New York at the Company's Office, No. 20 Nassau street, and by CONTINENTAL NATIONAL BANK, No. 7 Nassau st., CLARK, DODGE & CO., Bankers, No. 51, Wall st., JOHN J. CISCO & SON, Bankers, No. 33 Wall st., and by the Company's advertised Agents throughout the United States. Remittances should be made in drafts or other funds par in New York, and the bonds will be sent free of charge by return express. Parties subscribing through local agents, will look to them for their safe delivery.

A NEW PAMPHLET AND MAP, showing the Progress of the Work, Resources for Construction, and Value of Bonds, may be obtained at the Company's Offices or its advertised Agents, or will be sent free on application.

ESTEY'S COTTAGE ORGANS are still ahead of all competitors and stand unrivalled in POWER, PURITY OF TONE and BRILLIANCY, and all other points which go to make a first-class instrument.

The "VOX HUMANA TREMOLO" is the greatest of all modern improvements on reed instruments. It CHARMS and SURPRISES all who hear it, by its wonderful resemblance to the HUMAN VOICE. Do not confound this with the common tremolo in use. It is entirely different, and far superior to any other.

For sale wholesale and retail by
E. M. BRUCE,
18 N. Seventh Street, Philadelphia.

☞ Send for descriptive circular and price list.

The effect of your "Tremolo" is entirely new to me, and is certainly the best I ever heard.—Geo. W. Morgan. [The first Organist of America.

No Tremolo has yet been invented that will in any degree compare with this for beauty of effect. In fact, it seems to me to be absolutely perfect.—Wm. A. Johnson, Pipe Organ Builder.

Estey's Cottage Organs are without a superior for exceedingly quick articulation and round tone—the essential features in instruments of this class.—Geo. Jardine, Pipe Organ Builder.

The Cotttge Organ is the best of its class I ever saw, and the best adapted for church music of any in use.—C. Heintz, Organist, Findlay, O.

I am much pleased with the Cottage Organ which I purchased from you; it combines sweetness and power in an unusual degree, and is quite a favorite in our family circle.—Bishop Simpson.

We know no organs of the class which possess so many valuable qualities.—Independent.

For the parlor, its sweetness is remarkable; for the church it has a power more organ-like than anything we have seen.—Methodist.

Persons wishing to purchase an organ are requested to examine the Estey instruments now in use at the Presbyterian and Episcopal Churches, Bedford, Pa. jul26,'67

MEDICAL.—DR. A. S. SMITH, having resumed the Practice of Medicine, solicits a generous share of the patronage of the community. Office in his residence, at St Clairsville.

He would call the attention of the public, and to those more immediately interested to the following: His health being too delicate to bear much of the fatigues and exposures consequent on general practice, he has adopted a speciality in the profession.

Soon after commencing practice, some twenty years since, he was attracted by the almost universality of female complaints, both in the married and single state. Partly from natural inclination, and in order to obtain success in practice, these complaints were made the subject of incessant study. These alterations, displacements and deranged functions of the organs peculiar to the female, are owing to that refined sense of delicacy on the part of the female, who, ignorant of the consequences, prefers to suffer in silence rather than expose her situation. Seldom cured by the general practitioner, who is prevented by this delicacy from acquiring by experience that tact and skill necessary to discriminate the exact change present, and contents himself with prescribing for the deranged functions, or overlooking the cause, simply for attendant nervous disorders, founding his prescriptions on a Plethoric Anaemonic state of the general system and the result is no benefit, as the number of the long suffering females bears ample testimony. Believing that he has, from long and special attention paid to them, acquired that skill in discriminating and experience in treating, he solicits the suffering to give him a call. No charges for consultation or examination. Visits made to all parts of the county.

Applications for medicines can be made in writing by accompanying stamp for return letter.—Medicines sent when desired. Terms invariably cash for all medicines and instruments.

CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the "Green Book, &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of Self-Abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife—pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically. 1867.—"THE WORLD."—1867.

The attention of the public is invited to the claims of "The World" as one of the leading public journals of the country. It is the chief organ of the Democratic Party of the United States, and the foremost advocate of the immediate restoration of the Union. Its highest merits consists in its character as an enterprising and trustworthy newspaper.

The next year bids fair to be a more critical one in the history of our free institutions than even any eventful ones that have preceded it. The first requsite for an intelligent judgment of public affairs is a full and authentic account of facts as they transpire. These The World always aims to give with consciencious accuracy, and with equal fullness and fidelity, whether they make for or against its own views of public policy. Prompt activity in spreading before its readers every kind of news in which any part of the public takes an interst, is the first duty of a newspaper, and the facilities of The World for discharging this obligation are unsurpassed by those of any journal in the United States. Whatever else it may fail in, it certainly will not fail to furnish the news, nor to supply it with such promptitude, spirit, freshness, abundance, variety, accuracy and candor, that no class of readers can miss anything of interest which they wish to find. The World will publish documents and arguments prepared by political foes just as freely as those prepared by political friends; making its own comments on them, of course, but never suppressing or garbling them because they are calculated to damage its own party. Adverse arguments, which it cannot refute, it is content to leave to make their full impression. The World adopts this rule because it believes no other is honest; because it conceives that its first duty to its readers is to keep them thoroughly informed on every passing subject of importance. In politics, The World will continue to be the bold advocate of a Liberal, Progressive Democracy. The unflinching champion of Freedom, Justice, Order and Constitutional Rights. The inspiration of its politics is Freedom restrained by Justice; or, to speak more strictly, Freedom pure and simple, in the largest collective measure; the office of justice being merely to protect freedom from encroachments; Freedom of the individual citizen in his rights of thought, speech, religion and locomotion; in his Right to choose his own food and drink, in spite of meddlesome temperance laws; in his Right to make any money bargains he thinks proper, in spite of foolish usury laws; in his Right to buy and sell in all markets, domestic and foreign, in spite of unjust protective tariffs; in his Right to representation in the legislative bodies which tax him, in spite of unconstitutional exclusions; Freedom of collective citizens to assemble for discussion of grievances; Freedom of all local communities to manage their local affairs without central interterence; Freedom in every section of the country from the arrogant and unconstitutional domination of other sections; this large and comprehensive idea of Freedom sums up the politics of The World, which will never be found wanting to this capital interest of the country and of the human race.

In its accurate Commercial Intelligence and careful, reliable market reports, The World will continue to maintain its present high reputation. A paper published in the commercial metropolis is naturally looked to for authentic information relating to trade, commerce and finance; and this being a teature in which the The World prides itself, it boldly challenges comparison with every journal in the metropolis.

EDITIONS.

The Weekly World, a large quarto sheet, same size as Daily, is now printed throughout in large type, and has the largest circulation of any weekly journal published, save one. Its extraordinary success since its union with the New York Argus has justified the most liberal expenditures, which will make it unrivalled in interest and value to farmers. Published Wednesday.

1. Its Market Reports embrace the New York, Albany, Brighton and Cambridge Live Stock Markets; the New York Country Produce and General Produce Markets; special and valuable Hop Intelligence; a department of Agricultural Reading; all together composing an unrivalled handbook of current information for the Farmer, Live Stock or Produce Dealer, Country Merchant, &c.

2. A page or more reserved for entertaining Fireside Reading for the Family circle, embracing the freshest and best Stories, Poetry, Religious Reading, etc., and a page for the Discussion of all Prominent Topics of general interest, political agricultural, financial, literary, etc.

3. Its Digest of the News is not, like most weeklies, a mere waste-basket of the Daily; only matters of interest and importance are chosen from the Daily, while the mass of its contents are prepared especially for the Weekly.

In every postoffice district there should be found some active, public spirited Democrat, who will confer a benefit upon us, his neighbors, and the cause, by counseling with his Democratic friends and making a determined effort to form as large a club as possible for the Weekly World.

The Semi-Weekly World is a large quarto sheet, same size as Daily, which, by omitting a great mass of city advertisements from the Daily, contains all its news, correspondence, editorials, commercial and market news. cattle market and provision reports, and a fresh and entertaining miscellany of literature. Published Tuesday and Friday.

The Daily World affords a complete compendium of, and commentary upon, the news of every day.
